Policy

The health plan allows reimbursement for professional claims billed for durable medical equipment (DME) under specific guidelines. The health plan requires that all DME claims be submitted with the applicable HCPCS code(s) and must have the applicable modifier appended unless provider, state, federal contracts and/or requirements indicate otherwise.

Reimbursement is based on the rental price up to the maximum allowed of the particular DME. The item is considered purchased once the purchase price has been met. There may be instances in which a particular item may be considered for direct purchase on a case-by-case basis.

Circumstances Affecting Rental Reimbursement

Reimbursement will be calculated up to the health plan's allowance for the purchase price or the 10-month rental limit, whichever comes first. Once the limit is met, claims submitted for the rental of the item will receive no further reimbursement.

- Rental periods that contain a break in coverage of more than 3 months and resumes with the same DME provider, the 10 months rental limit will continue with the resumption month. When rental is resumed with a different DME provider, the 10-month RTP reimbursement limit count will start again for the new provider with the resumption month.
- On the occasion a member changes suppliers during the rental period, a new rental period will start over.
- When an item is rented for a trial period and then purchased, the rental fee paid during the trial period is deducted from the allowance for the purchase price.
- If the health plan's allowance for a DME item changes during the rental period, the rental allowance will be calculated based on the new allowance and will be applicable to the dates of service subsequent to the new allowance, and not the allowance in effect before the change.
- The health plan recognizes there may be times when a supplier delivers a home use DME item to a patient while the patient is in a facility setting (usually within two days of discharge). The item must be submitted to the health plan with the date of service equal to the date of discharge and the patient's residence as the place of service.

Note: The health plan allows rental of two units per month for DME that requires a back-up unit.

Nonreimbursable DME

The health plan does not allow reimbursement for:

- Provision of DME that exceeds the benefit limit unless authorized through medical necessity
- Repair or replacement of DME necessitated by abuse or neglect
- Repair or replacement of DME during the rental period
- Routine repair and replacement of DME and/or parts that are classified as “frequently serviced DME items” by the health plan
- Enhancements or upgrades of DME for the convenience of the member or caregiver
- The aesthetic appearance of DME for the preference of the member or caregiver
- DME considered to be experimental or investigational
- The purchase or rental of common household items that are not medically indicated.
- The cost of loaner equipment. Such cost is included in the reimbursement for the repair, maintenance, or servicing of the serviced DME item.
- DME rental items dispensed for use in a Place of Service (POS) other than the member's home (12).
- DME provided by a skilled nursing facility – this equipment is normally included as part of the facility charge and is not separately reimbursable.

Exceptions for skilled nursing facility:

- Hospital beds E0194, E0301, E0302, E0303, and E0304
- Wound care items A6550, A7000, and daily rental of E2402

The health plan considers the following services not eligible for separate reimbursement:

- Shipping and handling fees
- Equipment delivery services, and set-up fees
- Education and/or training for a member/family member

Maintenance and Servicing:

Maintenance and servicing are eligible for reimbursement when the applicable modifier is appended to the applicable HCPCS code. Maintenance and servicing that is eligible for reimbursement will be reimbursed equivalent to one month’s rental allowance of the identified DME item for a maximum of two times per year.

The health plan will provide separate reimbursement for the maintenance and servicing of DME equipment items classified by the health plan as “Continuous Rental” (never purchased items) only when the DME item had been purchased prior to the effective date of the covered member’s contract.
